BREAKS DOWN UNDER CHICAGO HOTEL CROSS-EXAMINATION

Mrs. Amanda Koch Creates a Scene During Trial of Baby Substitution Case.

OWN SECRET REVEALED

Shrieks and Moans Heard Throughout the San Francisco Courthouse.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16 .- Mrs Amanda Koch, one of the chief witnesses against Lieutenant Charles Reynard Slingsby and his wife in the famous "Slingsby baby substitution" case, which involves an inheritance, abruptly interrupted the taking of depositions today when she broke down under cross-examination, became hys terical and was taken violently ill. NOT SUSTAINED The hearings began this morning in the office of British Vice Consul Douglas Young, acting as commissioner for the court of chancery of England. Mrs. Koch's hysteria caused the postponement of the case at noon today, but she will probably be placed upon the stand again tomorrow.

Her Past Revealed.

As a warm friend of Mrs. Hattie Blain, at whose home Mrs. Slingsby has contended her son was born. Mrs. Koch was testifying today that no child was born to the lieutenant's wife there in the fall of 1910. This is also expected to be the contention of Mrs. Blain when she is placed upon the stand. The three-year-old son, which Mrs. Slingsby claims was born at that time, is now offered as the legitimate son of Lieutenant Slingsby and the rightful heir to the milliondollar estate bequeathed by the late Rev. Charles Shingsby of Yorkshire, and now enjoyed by the licutenant. When Attorney Oliver Dibble, representing the Slingsbys, took the witness after Attorney Andrew Thorne, for prosecution, had completed his nervous, and had scarcely started be-

Mrs. Blain, sitting in the anteroom, heard her friend's cries and rushed into the witness room. Apparently guessing that Mrs. Koch's secret was out, she went to Mrs. Koch and ministered to her, after directing several sharp words at Mrs. Slingsby.

sharp words at Mrs. Slingsby.

The breakdown of the witness for the members of the Slingsby family, who are contesting the claims of the baby boy, ended the taking of depositions for the day. It is doubtful what the next movement will be.

Hearing is being held in private. Charles Eugene Edward Slingsby, the "Slingsby baby" involved in the case, was not present today.

On the way to the hospital, Ellis said he and his wife had agreed to die because of business reverses. Ellis in a further statement to detectives insisted that his wife and he had agreed to die together.

"We went to a theater last night," he said, "and then to a cafe, and reached the hotel about midnight. I shot myself first. Then she shot herself. I grabbed the knife and began to cut my throat. She took it out of my hands and drew it across her throat." Ellis tonight told the police that his wife and he had agreed to die together after she had admitted infidelity. Mrs. Ellils left here for Chicago last Priday and was followed by her husband on Monday. Relatives here have received letters from both of them during the last two days, but the missives contained nothing that would indicate other than their domestic life was their intention to celebrate the tenth anniversary of their wedding Thursday night at the home of her parents in Chicago. Wednesday Mr. Ellils sister received a telegram from her brother in which he referred to the happy time they were having with his wife's relatives.

Mrs. Ellis's maiden name was Miss Eleanor Hosea, daughter of Harrison R. Hosea, a commission merchant of this city, and granddaughter of Robert Hosea, formerly one of Cincinmat's leading capitalists. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis were married ten years ago and have two children, Eleanor, ared 8 and Violet aged 3.

Mrs. W. E. Ellis of Cincinnati O'Gorman, Reed and Hitchcock Confer With President as to Prospect of Currency Legislation.

> BILL IS NOT LIKELY TO PASS VERY SOON

Wife Said to Have Confessed Expert Reports Some 300 Amendments to Be Necessary, Some of Which Are Said to Be Radical.

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 .- Renewing his efforts to speed up the currency bill and obtain legislation at this session, President Wilson today sent for Senators O'Gorman, Reed and Hitchcock, the Democratic recalcitrants or the committee. The conference gave no indications that these senators had been dissuaded from their position of demanding full hearings and careful consideration in committee before reporting the measure to the senate.

All agreed when they discussed the conference impersonally with their colleagues later in the day that the president was pleasant and cordial. They fostered the impression that all he wanted was to understand the situation and urge senators to make as much haste as possible. It was stated that he made no attempt to designate any specific date by which action must be had, but that, on the contrary, be seemed to realize the conditions in the senate, and is now willing to give to senators the same right of exercise of their opinions as he maintained for himself.

Will Take Time.

As he left the White house, Senator Hitchcock said that, while everybody wanted legislation as soon as possible, the magnitude of the subject was such could not be considered ill ad visedly or rushed through either the committee or the senate. Referring to the president's wish for speedy legisla-

Mr. Hitchcock refused to name any date for the report on the bill, but indicated that it would take some time to prepare all the amendments that would be written into the measure.

Amendments Necessary.

"Some of these amendments will be radical," continued Senator Hitchcock. 'Many others are of a minor character. An expert has gone over the bill for Chairman Owen and has reported over 300 amendments to be necessary. Of course, many of these relate simply to Senator Hitchcock frankly admitted with the president. The three Demo-eratic members of the committee were talked to separately. Senator O'Gor-man was the lust visitor. He, too, declined to talk about the conference be tween himself and the president. The views of the New York senator con-cerning amendments he believes to be necessary are well known and that he urged them upon the president is understood.

Edward D. Fisher, deputy comptrol-ler of the city of New York, submitted to the committee today the report of the chambers of commerce of the the chambers of commerce of the United States on the pending bill. He discussed the features of the bill before the committee at some length.
R. D. Millikin of this city submitted a plan for a commerce bank.

Will Represent Utah Federation at Biennial General Meeting in Chicago.

By Staff Correspondent. BRIGHAM CITY, Oct. 16 .- The

Utah Federation of Women's clubs closed here this afterthe delegates returning to homes on late afternoon trains. One of the last duties of the convention was the election of delegates to the biennial meeting of the general federation in Chicago, June 14 to 19, 1914. Those selected were Mrs. I. W. Aird of Provo, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Cohen of Salt Lake, Mrs. R. B. Porter of Ogden and Mrs. Ira B. Travis of Salt Lake. The alternates were Mrs. Gould B. Blakely of Salt Lake, Miss Mary Shields of Park City, Mrs. E. W. Dunn of Park City and Mrs. J. T. Be less of Salt Lake.

The sum of $1000 was voted as an endowment fund for the state federation for the purpose of sending the fedcration officers to different parts of the state when their services are needed to help individual clubs. The money is to be raised in two years, on the basis of 50 cents per capita of members of the federation.

One of the most interesting features of a federation programme is the open parliament, which comes on the day of the convention. Its popularity is presumably due to the fact that all of the delegates get an opportunity of exercising a woman's privilege of talking. The parliament this morning was conducted by Miss Gertrude McCheyne

U. S. Likely to Back Carranza With All Necessary Force to Secure His Success; Huerta Thinks of Resigning.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 .- President Wilson indicated today to those with whom he discussed the Mexican situation that he was irrevocably determined to deal no longer with the Huer ta regime, but that further steps to ward bringing about peace in Mexico were being considered. The policy of the United States has been to make complete a record of hav ing attempted to handle the problem by peaceful means. Up to the present, parleys have been carried on with the Huerta authorities, who have rejected the good offices of the United States. Strong pressure now is being brought twentieth annual session of the to bear upon the president and secretary Bryan to give the constitutionalists an opportunity to compose the situation through the support of this coun-

> Reports that the president was preparing to recognize the belligerency of the constitutionalists are based chiefly upon the friendly disposition toward them that has arisen among administration officials since Huerta's proclamation of dictatorship. The suggestion was carried to President Wilson by those whose advice he and Secretary Bryan have followed to some extent in the past, and while the attitude is one of waiting until October 26 arrives, it appears that some move indicating support for the constitutionalists is not improbable

Carranza Could Restore Order.

Such action might not be formal recognition, which would present a eurious tangle in technicalities of international law, but it is pointed out by those who are urging informal dealings with the constitutionalists that in reality Governor Carranza was legally elected chief executive of the state of Coahuila, and that he and Governor Maytorena of Sonora justify their armed resistance of Huerta as a measure of defense against those who took possession of the federal government machinery in the Mexican capital by arbitrarily overthrowing Madero.

That President Wilson believes the Mexico City administration is incapington government would adopt a very drastic policy immediately but for the fear that it would interfere with the domestic programme of currency and other legislative reforms.
